

Amelia Berry, soprano

Amelia is from Wellington, where she is currently studying towards her Bachelor of Music (Hons) in Classical Performance Voice (New Zealand School of Music).

Competition highlights include winning the 2008 Otago Daily Times Aria Competition, placing third in the 2008 Performing Arts Competitions Association of New Zealand Young Performer of the Year Award, winning the 2009 Wellington Aria Competition and singing for Prince Edward and his guests at the 2009 Duke of Edinburgh Award dinner.

Amelia has been a grateful recipient of several scholarships, including the Moyra Todd Memorial Scholarship, the Mona Ross Prize for Excellence in Singing, the Rotary Club of Wellington Music Prize for classical performance and the Rotary Club of Port Nicholson Goal Setter Award.

Operatic roles include,

title role: Semele (New Zealand School of Music) and Annio: La clemenza di Tito (Auckland Opera Studio).

2010/2011 PwC Dame Malvina Major Emerging Artist, Amelia will perform in the Chapman Tripp Opera Chorus for Macbeth with The NBR New Zealand Opera.